EAST INDIA COMPANY.

THE English East India Company, the greatest commercial body in the world, was instituted in 1579, when its capital amounted to about 370,000 l. Each share was 50 l. In 1676, each share was doubled, and the capital was 1,700,000 l. In 1690, the Company were incorporated by Act of Parliament, and obtained the exclusive privilege of trading to India, upon lending two millions to Government. Their Charter has been at different times renewed, upon new loans to Government, and a fixed payment of 400,000 l. per annum. The amount of the Stock at present is about 4,000,000 l. and the Revenue from their trade supposed near 3,500,000 l.—The number of trading ships between India and London [the British port at which they are restricted to land], is about 90, from 500 to 1200 tons burden, and contain in all about 70,000 tons. The number of Proprietors of Stock is about 1500. The affairs of the Company are under the management of 24 Directors, [who chuse from their own number a Chairman and Deputy Chairman],—they continue four years, six going out annually in rotation. The Chairman and Deputy Chairman have 200 l. per ann. each, the other Directors 150 l. A Proprietor entitled to vote at elections must hold 1000 l. stock for one year at least. A Director must hold 2000 l. A Court of Directors is held once a week, and a Court of Proprietors quarterly, at the India House, Leadenhall-Street, London.

The large territorial possessions the Company have acquired in India, are under the Government of a Governor General, resident at Fort William, Calcutta, Bengal, a Governor at Fort St George, Madras, and a Governor at Bombay, and their respective Councils, who have high Salaries. The number of Officers employed in the Civil branches of Business is very great. The Army consists of about 40,000 men, and has about 3000 Officers, all British and Irish.

In 1784, an Act of Parliament passed, establishing a Board of Controul, consisting of six persons nominated by the King, who are to have the superintendence and controul of all matters relative to the Government and Revenue of the Company's territorial possessions.
